Airliner Plunges Into Irish Sea; Fear All Lost

FISHGUARD, Wales (AP) — An Irish airliner with 61 aboard went into a spin-off Wales on Sunday and plunged into the Irish Sea. All were feared lost as rain and darkness impeded a massive air-sea search.

Navy ships and a radar-equipped aircraft pressed the search through the night but no wreckage or rafts were sighted. The crash shaped up as the worst in the 37-year history of Aer Lingus, the state-owned Irish airline.

Arthur Walls, the airline's deputy manager, said, "It is with the deepest regret that we must now conclude that there is little hope of any survivors." Walls' brother was aboard.

"This is our first passenger fatality for 16 years and leaves all of us with a profound sense of shock and loss," he said.

The plane was a four-engine British-built Viscount bound from Cork to London on a scheduled flight in fair weather. The first hint of disaster—and the last—came in a message from its captain at the halfway point of the 360-mile trip, saying he was spinning.

An immediate search started with navy ships, lifeboats and aircraft from both sides of the Irish Sea.

At mid-afternoon the British Navy reported picking up four "Mayday"—SOS—signals from automatic transmitters of the kind carried by the plane and its survival gear. But no one knew if they came from the plane itself, one of its rafts, or even an individual lifejacket.

At nightfall the sea search was concentrated on an area 15 miles west of Strumble Head, a point on the west coast of south Wales. Rain swept in from the Atlantic.

Search planes returned to their bases as the light failed. Helicopters stood by, ready to fly out again at first light Monday.

The search was directed from an operations center at Brawdy, a Royal Navy air station near this west coast port.

Officers there said the viscount's last known message reporting the spinning came from 17,000 feet—three miles up.

Dam Collapses, Flood Smashes Mass. Homes

LEE, Mass. (AP) — A flash flood of 12 million gallons of water smashed homes and ravaged an industrial plant when an earthen dam on a man-made lake collapsed Sunday.

One person was killed and another was missing.

The roaring wall of water to bogged down a 600-foot decline and flattened out on the lowlands of this rural community in Western Massachusetts before syphoning off into the Housatonic River.

There were no reports of serious injuries.

The torrent was the latest in a series of floods that have plagued New England since the region was deluged a week ago by rains that accelerated the melting of snow.

The 12-million-gallon "slug of water hit level land with an awful wallop," members of the Army Corps of Engineers office in Waltham said after studying maps and receiving reports from the scene.

Two houses in its path were cut in half and knocked off their foundations, and nine others were damaged as residents of some crouched in their cellars.

Two holes were broken in walls at the plant of Clark-Aiken Co., a manufacturer of paper mill machinery, and about five feet of muck was left behind.

Two WAHS Students Make History at Thiel

For the first time in the history of the Thiel College competitive examinations more than one award was made in a single high school as two Warren, Pa., high school seniors were named among the five winners of the annual competition at Thiel College.

It was also the first time that more than one winner was chosen from one community. Receiving scholarships worth $4,000 each, administered in amounts of $1,000 a year over a four-year period, are Thomas Lee Lauffenberger and James Michael Sealey. Both will graduate from Warren High School in June.

The two young men, who were among 121 high school seniors in the upper fifth of their classes and had made application to Thiel prior to the test, were also given unqualified character recommendations from their school.

APPEAL TO NO AVAIL

Israeli Ambassador Josef Teikoah, top, disdaining Arab demands for sanctions against Israel after its punitive attack against Jordan, asked the Security Council to take action instead against terrorists operating from Arab countries. Jordanian Ambassador Mohammed El-Farra, bottom, again asked for condemnation of Israel as the aggressor.

Assembly Impeaches Panamanian President

PANAMA (AP) — The National Assembly convicted President Marco A. Robles of illegal political activity and suspended him from office in impeachment proceedings Sunday. He swore in the first vice president, Max Delvalle, as president.

National guard reinforcements raced into the assembly square on troop carriers just as the assembly took the vote. Robles had vowed he would ignore, apparently as a precaution against violence. Crowds of demonstrators opposed to Robles milled in nearby streets.

A burst of gunfire was heard while guard units fanned out in the downtown area. Guard sources said later a weapon had been fired accidentally.

The impeachment proceedings left Panama with two men claiming to be president—Delvalle, 57, and Robles, 62.

Robles has made it clear he considers the assembly had no legal right to impeach him. He has said he will hold out for a ruling by the Supreme Court on a lower court injunction against the assembly's proceedings.

Robles' opponents claim the assembly is beyond the reach of any court. The Supreme Court reconvenes April 1.

A crucial factor in the crisis was the National Guard, which serves both military and police functions in Panama. High sources in the guard said they expected because of the conflicting constitutional viewpoints that it would take no steps until the Supreme Court hands down a decision.

The sources described the guard's position as neutral and its first concern as the preservation of law.

The assembly voted 30 to 0 to convict Robles of charges brought by his opponents: that he influenced the selection of a candidate for the May presidential election, allowed the use of government facilities for political propaganda and hired and fired government employees for political reasons.

Twelve minority deputies did not attend the session.

After taking the presidential oath, Delvalle said he had neither "prostituted nor encouraged" the present "special circumstances." He asked Panamanians for "a common effort that will permit us to overcome the crisis we now confront."

Delvalle named a new cabinet and called the assembly into session to draft reforms in the electoral law. But he did not take the step customary for new presidents of changing the command of the National Guard.

Joseph Guido, Era City Editor, Is Dead at 59

BRADFORD, Pa. (AP) — Joseph Guido, city editor of The Bradford Era, died Sunday of an apparent heart attack.

Guido, 59, who spent nearly all of his life in Bradford, had been city editor of the morning daily for two years. He was sports editor of the Era and its predecessor papers for about 30 years.

Guido overcame a crippling attack of polio in his childhood to pursue an active newspaper career.

He's survived by his mother, three sisters and a brother.

High Requiem Mass will be celebrated Wednesday morning at St. Bernard Roman Catholic Church.

Security Council Condemns Israeli Raids on Jordan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The UN Security Council condemned by a unanimous vote Sunday Israel's massive raids into Jordan last Thursday. Israel rejected the condemnation and said it reserved the right to use whatever steps were necessary for the security of its territory.

The action came as the council received reports of a new exchange of gunfire across the Israeli-Jordan border. The exchange lasted nearly two hours.

Israeli Ambassador Josef Teikoah told the council: "We cannot, of course, accept the condemnation of the actions which the Israeli forces were compelled to take against the terrorist bases in Jordan when they proved necessary in self-defense."

He added that if the Arabs fail to fulfill their obligations under the U.N. cease-fire they must understand that Israel will maintain its right and duty "to take all necessary measures for the security of the territory and the population under its responsibility."

The 15-nation council also deplored "all violent incidents in violation of the U.N. cease-fire," but the compromise resolution it approved did not mention specifically the alleged operations of Arab terrorists against Israel.

The resolution, worked out in laborious consultations, further declared that military reprisals cannot be tolerated and that in the event they are repeated, the council would have to consider measures envisaged in the charter—economic and military sanctions.

The approved draft replaced one submitted Saturday night by India, Pakistan and Senegal which Western diplomats objected to as one-sided in favor of the Arabs.

The reference to "all violent incidents" was put in at the insistence of the United States and several others in an effort to show that the council was not ignoring the actions of Arab terrorist bands allegedly based on Jordanian territory.

The council's action concluded a marathon debate which began hours after the Israeli attack was launched across the Jordan River Thursday morning. Israel contended that the attack was in self-defense against huge terrorist camps.

Israelis, Jordanians Are Still Clashing

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israeli and Jordanian forces clashed again across the Jordan River frontier Sunday for the fourth time since last Thursday's massive Israeli assault on the east bank, the army said.

Positions on the Jordanian bank opened up with artillery and small arms fire on Israeli forces in the Beisan Valley, just south of the Sea of Galilee at 2:10 p.m., a spokesman said. The fire was returned and the exchange continued nearly two hours.

Arab positions also opened fire with recoilless rifles at a tractor working in fields near Kibbutz Mezeor, in the north of the populous valley, the spokesman said, adding that Israeli troops fired back in the brief exchange.

The army said later there were no Israeli casualties. Earlier, an Israeli farmer was wounded when his tractor hit a mine, believed planted by Arab saboteurs, near Modelot settlement, eight miles west of the river, the army said.

Reports from the Beisan Valley, a major target for the guerrillas in the last six months, said the settlements of Kfar Ruppin and Ma'oz Hayim were on alert.

U.S. Bombers Press Campaign Against Enemy Hill Positions

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Air Force B52 bombers pressed an around-the-clock campaign against enemy hill positions near Khe Sanh on Monday after Marines at the surrounded outpost came under another unusually heavy artillery bombardment over the weekend.

The eight-engine Stratofortresses dropped as much as 1,000 tons of explosives Saturday night and Sunday into areas where North Vietnamese troops and artillery are believed holed up in deep bunkers and caves.

Military intelligence officers said 16,000 enemy troops in two divisions now are believed to be encircling Khe Sanh. The enemy force previously had been reported as 20,000 men.

Military circles said the new, lower figure represented a refinement of intelligence estimates and did not signify any partial North Vietnamese pullout. Nor did it reflect losses in casualties, they said.

U.S. intelligence officers report no change in the threat to Khe Sanh's 7,000 or so defenders.

The U.S. Command in Saigon reported the B52s flew two missions Saturday night and four more Sunday after the enemy guns, rockets and mortars poured more than 600 rounds of fire into the base in South Vietnam.

USS New Jersey Is Taken Out Of Mothballs

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — For more than 10 years, the nine 16-inch guns of the battleship USS New Jersey—capable of hurling 7,700-pound projectiles 24 miles—have been silent. Tuesday they return to the sea.

And by September the 45,000-ton dreadnought should be on station in the Gulf of Tonkin, blasting targets in North Vietnam.

It won't be a new venture for the New Jersey. During the Korean conflict, she shelled coastal defenses in North Korea.

After the Korean War, battleships still on active duty were shunted off to reserve fleets, apparently never to emerge again. As the loss of men and aircraft over North Vietnam mounted, however, Navy brass made a convincing argument for reactivation of a battleship.

They argued a battleship could shell important North Vietnamese targets from miles at sea and help reduce the toll.

The New Jersey is to put out to sea Tuesday for her first sea trials since being taken out of mothballs. Her huge guns won't be test fired until after recommissioning on April 6.

Three other battleships remain in reserve fleets—the Iowa and Wisconsin in Philadelphia and the Missouri at Bremerton, Wash.

nam's northwest corner below the demilitarized zone. Marine casualties were described as light.

On Friday the enemy fired 650 rounds into the outpost, the heaviest since the latter part of February.

The North Vietnamese had

New Top Marine Opposes Any Change in Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's top Marine opposes any change in basic U.S. military strategy in Vietnam, saying the United States can gain its objectives "if we just persevere."

Gen. Leonard F. Chapman Jr., new Marine commandant, acknowledged the Communist winter offensive scored a psychological—physical—material shock and "was a setback to many things, particularly the pacification program."

But, he predicted in an interview Sunday, "the net effect of the TET offensive will be favorable to us" because of violence by the Communists against Vietnamese civilians.

"I believe we were and are doing the right things," said Chapman in his first question-and-answer interview since becoming head of the 300,000-man Marine Corps on Jan. 1.

He declined to forecast "what the future decisions will be" on strategy questions before President Johnson.

U.S. strategy has come under been averaging 100 to 200 rounds of fire daily.

U.S. headquarters never discloses the number of B52s which fly each mission but some informants say they vary between seven to nine aircraft. Each plane is capable of carrying 25 tons of explosives.

review at the highest levels of government since the Communist offensive. Some civilian officials are reported urging a lid on further U.S. troop commitments.

At the same time U.S. strategy—including "search and destroy" operations and the holding of the besieged Khe Sanh bastion—has come under attack by critics of the Johnson Administration, including Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D.N.Y.

Chapman refused to discuss his views on the possible impact of presidential bids by Kennedy and Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D. Minn., on the attitude of the enemy and the length of the war.

But the Marine chief made it clear he is against scaling down the U.S. effort, particularly limiting U.S. troops to defending cities, towns and bases and leaving the countryside unguarded.

"I certainly would not favor what is called the enclave strategy," the four-star general said. "I think that is tantamount to certain defeat."

Viet Pullout Could Lead To Communist Takeover

LONDON (AP) — "If the Americans pull out of Vietnam the Communists will take over the whole of Southeast Asia—and Burma, India, right up to the Caspian Sea would go."

The words are those of Field Marshal Sir Gerald Templer, commander of British troops who beat the Communist guerrillas in Malaya after World War II.

"An American withdrawal would have absolutely disastrous effects, not only in the Far East but farther afield," he said in an interview.

Now 69 and retired, Templer expressed the belief British troops should be fighting alongside Americans in Vietnam.

The whole of Southeast Asia—which he said would fall after a Communist triumph in Vietnam—consists of the Philippines, Indonesia, Malaysia, Laos, Cambodia and Thailand, Beyond Burma and India to the Caspian Sea lie such nations as Pakistan, Afghanistan and Iran.

To the north of this great arc are Red China and the Soviet Union.

Malaya survived the attempted Communist takeover in guerrilla warfare 1945-52 and now is part of Malaysia, a pro-West nation formed of former British colonies in 1963.

How did Britain pull it off in Malaya while the United States, with greater power, is having so difficult a time?

"The British had been in Malaya since the 1870s," Templer said. "During our time there we built up a local civil service with an increasing number of Asians."

"But after that perishing thing at Dien Bien Phu the French walked out and left to all intents and purposes an administrative desert in Vietnam."

"The reason I stress this is that you cannot win these sort of wars with bullets. You can only win with the people over in my opinion—to use that nauseating phrase I think I invented—by capturing their hearts and minds."

Templer, a dapper gray-haired Irishman with a clipped mustache, noted that the British had complete civil and military rule in Malaya.

Children Die in Fire

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Two children left alone for a short time while their mother went to a nearby store died in a fire that swept through a second-floor apartment bedroom, police report.

Victims of the Saturday night fire were Jacqueline Danzy, 4, and her sister, Monique Renee, 10 months.

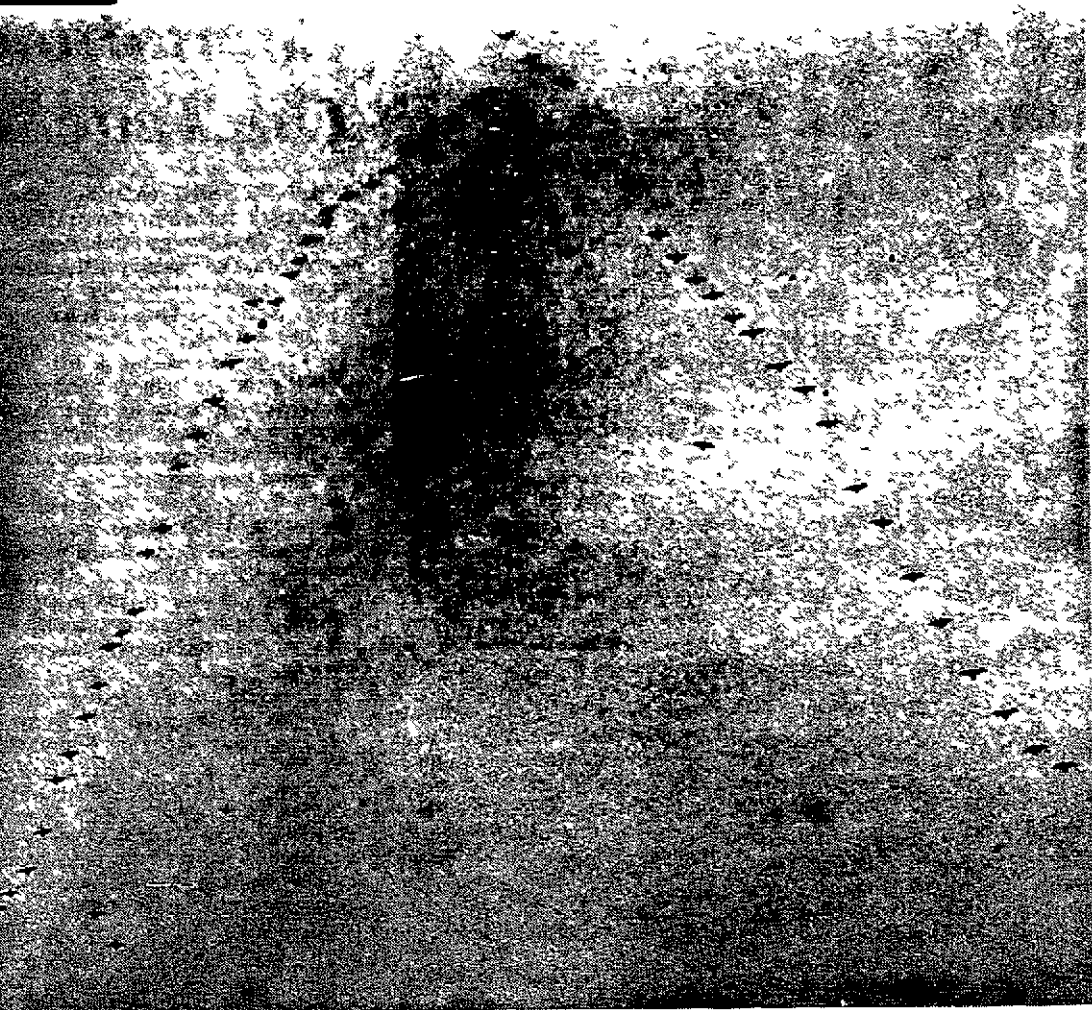

Police said the mother, Rose Danzy, 20, was seen leaving the apartment at about 10 p.m. and did not return until about 11 p.m. when she was found by neighbors.

Price Goes Up

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The price of the Sunday edition of the Philadelphia Inquirer will be raised from 20 to 25 cents on March 31. The boost follows a similar one by the Philadelphia Sunday Bulletin recently. The Inquirer cited "continuing increases in the cost of labor, newsprint, distribution, services and other expenses."

Victim Found

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — The body of a Russian girl, 17th victim of Poland's worst winter avalanche, has been recovered, Warsaw newspapers reported.

OFF AND AWAY!

Against a pale sky, almost as white as the snow on the ground, the geese steadily wing their way northward. It's a welcome sight, for it is an indication that spring is surely on its way despite the sudden snowfall over the weekend.

Sen. Javits Plans to Push Rockefeller Into Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., is proposing to carry reluctant Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's name before the Republican national convention as New York's favorite-son candidate for the presidency.

Javits and two other GOP moderates in the Senate insisted Sunday that former Vice President Richard M. Nixon does not have the party's presidential nomination sewed up despite Rockefeller's refusal to enter the Republican race.

And Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., a leading Vietnam dove, said he might support Democratic peace candidates Robert F. Kennedy or Eugene J. McCarthy against Nixon if such a contest should evolve. He added he didn't think it would.

Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, a House Republican leader, predicted Nixon will win the GOP nod on the first ballot. Laird stirred the vice presidential speculation by suggesting a former member of President Johnson's Cabinet as Nixon's running mate: Republican John W. Gardner, who resigned this month as secretary of health, education and welfare.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., disclosed a new organization which he called "a Coalition for Republican Alternatives" has been formed in 16 states in the last three days. Morton urged a full-scale GOP debate on Vietnam and other issues.

Javits said he will nominate Rockefeller to be New York's favorite son at the party's state committee meeting in Albany, N.Y., Wednesday.

This could lead to a Nixon-Rockefeller match at the Republican national convention in Miami Beach, Fla., in August despite all the governor's disavowals. Javits plainly hopes it will.

"He'll go to the convention with a very strong bloc of votes which will put him before the convention," Javits said. He added efforts to recruit Rockefeller support around the country will continue and said, "This will all stir the pot."

Morton and Javits appeared on the NBC television-radio program "Meet the Press." Hatfield spoke on the similar ABC program "Issues and Answers" and Laird was questioned on "Face the Nation" on CBS.

Rocky Expected to Sign Bill for Parking Ramp

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. — Jamestown Assemblyman Jess J. Present said Sunday that Governor Rockefeller is expected to sign a bill sometime this week permitting construction of Jamestown's new parking ramp.

Present said the bill, which has been passed by both houses of the state legislature, has been sent to the governor's office for his consideration.

The action comes three months later than expected and was delayed in Albany at the request of city corporation counsel William R. Blood due to legal technicalities. When signed by the governor, construction for the 350-car ramp is expected to get under way immediately on the Cherry st. site between Fourth and Fifth sts.

Plans call for a non-profit organization, Jamestown Civic Auto Ramps Inc., to use the city's borrowing power to raise most of the money needed for the construction. After the ramp is built revenues will be used to pay off the bonds with ownership of the ramp reverting to the city when the structure is paid for.

Backers of the ramp project are still hopeful in spite of several delays, that the project still be completed prior to Christmas. National Garages of Detroit, operators of the present ramp on East Second and Main sts., are also expected to operate the new facility.

Two teen-age girls from the Kane area were killed late Friday night when the car in which they were riding crashed into trees along Rt. 219, south of Bradford. Two young men in the car were injured.

Debra Kay Smouse, 15, Kane Star Route, was pronounced dead at the scene. Nancy Boedecker, 15, 26 Yarnall st., Kane, was dead on arrival at Bradford Hospital.

The driver of the car, Samuel C. McKinney, 19, 547 Smithfield ave., Kane, is listed in good condition at Kane Community Hospital with head and ankle injuries. A third passenger, Dennis Kimes, 18, 112 Oak st., Kane, suffered multiple fractures and was admitted to Bradford Hospital where his condition is listed as satisfactory.

The four were on their way home when the car left the highway, dropped down an embankment, and was torn apart as it crashed through trees, state police from Kane reported.

Man Has Heart Attack, Car Strikes Fence Post

R. E. Riemenschneider, 35, RD 1, Tidioute, suffered a heart attack while driving Sunday afternoon and was pronounced dead on arrival at Warren General Hospital after his car ran off the road and struck a fence post.

Riemenschneider's car was headed west on Pennsylvania ave. and veered across the street as it approached the Beech st. intersection, investigating officer Robert Kates reported. There were no signs of severe injury from the accident, he said. An autopsy performed at the hospital indicated death was caused by heart failure.

Riemenschneider, originally from Pittsburgh, was employed at the Kinzua Dam and resided in the Tidioute area with his wife. His body was taken to Pittsburgh for burial.

Borough police investigated a second accident Sunday at the intersection of Pennsylvania ave. and Elm st. A car, operated by Robert E. Dodds, 24, Wycox, Pa., eastbound on Pennsylvania ave., collided with an auto, operated by Gayle Anderson, 20, 24 S. Carver st., which was turning left from Elm st., police said.

State police reported three weekend accidents. Robert L. Ailing, 26, RD 2, Russell, ran off Rt. 6 near Tiona early Saturday and struck a tree after the left rear tire on his car blew out. Damage was set at $1,000. Ailing escaped injury.

Earlier Saturday, cars operated by John L. Bailey, 18, RD 1, Clarendon and Nicholas O. Andrews, 50, E. Main st., Fairview, Pa., collided on Griff Hill rd. in Mead twp. The mishap occurred when Bailey failed to yield half the highway to the oncoming Andrews auto, troopers said.

Damage was set at $200 in a collision Saturday afternoon on Rt. 6 west of Sheffield. Robert W. McClellan, 40, Box 106, Tiona, passing a car driven by Barry Simon, 22, Tiona, pulled in too quickly and hit the left front of Simon's car, state police said.

Margaret A. French, 18, Ludlow, ran into the rear of a car driven by Annabelle Fring, 67, 17 1/2 Elm st. on Pennsylvania ave. near Averill st. Saturday.

Three Letters Said Written By Pueblo Crew

TOKYO (AP) — North Korea released Sunday what it claimed were contents of letters from three more crewmen of the intelligence ship Pueblo. One was quoted as saying the North Koreans had recovered secret and top secret documents from the captive ship.

Pyeongyang's Korean Central News Agency—KCNA—said photographer Lawrence William Mack of Detroit addressed letters to U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Gov. George Romney of Michigan.

Mack said that on Jan. 23 the Pueblo "was captured intact with secret and top secret documents and materials plus logs and charts detailing its espionage activities," KCNA reported. Seaman Appren, Richard J. Rogala wrote: "The Korean people have been lenient with us so far," KCNA said, in a letter addressed to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Rogala of Niles, Ill., and one to Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill.

The news agency quoted Rogala as asking Percy to "persuade the Johnson administration to apologize for this crime" because "this is the only way in which I may return to my country and see my parents again."

KCNA said a fifth letter was written by Robellon Parel Abellon, a steward, and addressed to the U.S. government. His home town was not given.

Bandits Squirt Gas In Victim's Face

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—Two bandits squirted tear gas or a like substance into the face of a young gas station attendant Sunday night and fled with $50.

Al Rush, 16, told police the pair approached him from behind while he was talking on the telephone. He said he turned and got squirted with a substance that temporarily blinded him.

Rush dropped the telephone. A girl he was talking with heard the robbery and called police.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. Richard F. Fitzgerald, the Diocesan Coordinator, announced Thursday evening in Erie that the Charities Campaign is progressing very well. Monsignor Fitzgerald said, "The charitable response of our people to the needs of the poor has always been exemplary. We are confident that our goal for this year will be oversubscribed—allowing the Diocese to move more swiftly in the completion of its plans."

Monsignor Fitzgerald reminded his audience at Sacred Heart Parish in Erie that Bishop Wheelan has designated Sunday, March 24 as "Campaign Sunday." On this day thousands of volunteer workers have agreed to concentrate their time and efforts toward visiting the remaining 33,582 families in the diocese. These families have not yet had an opportunity to pledge their help and support to the Catholic Charities Campaign.

A goal of $1,250,000 has been set for 1968. Interesting facets of the Annual Catholic Charities Campaign include two new residences for the aged, Sharon and DuBols are the cities where the residences will be located.

St. Mary's Home in Erie will be enlarged—an extension to the home is planned. In Crawford County a home will be purchased for use as a maternity and founding home. The social services of Catholic Charities are being expanded to include additional professionally trained personnel for marriage counseling and other help to the poor.

Soil Testing Is Meeting Topic

"Penn State's New Soil Testing Program" and "The Nitrogen Revolution" are the topics to be discussed during a Forest County area meeting on Tuesday afternoon, March 26, beginning at 1:30 o'clock in the Courthouse at Tionesta, according to County Agent Russell M. Smith.

The speaker for this soil fertility meeting is James H. Eakin, in charge of Agronomy Extension at the Pennsylvania State University. He will tell how to interpret the soil test results reported on the computer forms.

Since many farmers plan to use more nitrogen for corn, forage and pasture crops, Eakin will recommend amounts to use of various forms of nitrogen and give times and methods of application.

35 Injured In Coast Line Derailment

BRUNDIDGE, Ala. (AP) — Eleven cars of the Seaboard Coast Line's Chicago-to-Miami passenger train, The South Wind, left the rails on the outskirts of Brundridge shortly before daybreak Sunday. Some 35 persons were injured, including six who remain in hospitals at nearby Ozark and Troy, Ala.

Dr. John C. Thompson, an investment banker from Santa Barbara, Calif., was one of the six persons detained at the hospitals. He suffered head and leg injuries as he was hurled from his berth into the wall of a bouncing pullman car.

"There was pandemonium," he said, "ladies screaming and crying babies. But there was no panic."

"It happened in a rather fortunate place, really," he continued. "We were right along the highway, and police cars and ambulances could pull beside us. The police cars were there in just a few minutes, and the ambulances got there quite promptly, too."

Seven coaches, three pullman cars and a diner left the rails as the 14-car train entered a narrow cut between earthen embankments beside Alabama 93 just north of the Brundridge business district. Nine of the cars came to rest opposite a cemetery.

Two other cars, nearer the locomotive, were dragged almost a quarter mile.

Area Residents Urged To Donate Blood Wed.

Area residents are urged by the Red Cross to give blood generously when the Bloodmobile makes a split visit to Youngsville and Sheffield Wednesday.

Since its inception on June 1, 1960, the Warren County Chapter American Red Cross Blood Bank has collected 28,437 pints of blood from volunteer donors in the County. This blood has helped save countless lives.

Any resident of Warren County who is injured or becomes ill can draw against the blood credits built up by the local Blood Bank at Warren General Hospital, or at any other hospital through the reciprocal blood program. The provisions of this system assure necessary blood transfusions without delay and free of charge. You do not pay for blood. Any fees incurred are administrative and laboratory processing charges. In the case of an emergency, this prompt availability can be of priceless value when there is no time to seek out donors of blood—often needed in large quantities—and have it checked before giving transfusions.

There is a constant demand for the restorative powers of blood. It is needed to restore vital body fluids during certain operations. It helps patients recover from shock. It's uses are many.

In order for blood to be continually available to Warren County residents, the need to replenish the supply and keep it at the proper emergency level is constant. Only a few minutes are required to donate blood and in time of need, each pint could mean the difference between life and death.

You are asked to bridge this infinitesimal gap by volunteering to give a pint of blood. The bloodmobile will visit Sheffield from 12:00 noon to 5:30 p.m., Youngsville from 11:30 to 5:30 p.m. on Wednesday, March 27. Sheffield area residents are asked to call Mrs. Samuelson at 968-5337 for an appointment. Likewise, Youngsville area people may call Mrs. Davis at 563-9214. In Tidioute, call Mrs. Ziegler at 484-3483. New and past donors may, of course, give blood without an appointment.

'Drinks on Me'

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Joseph L. Schreiner left $100 in his will for "drinks on me" for his pallbearers.

The estate of the retired brewery worker was valued at $42,612. After deductions, $36,928 was left to beneficiaries including $35,838 for the Sisters Hospital for Crippled Children.

Schreiner died in January at the age of 65. Terms of the will were made public Saturday.

Committee Caught in Squeeze On Teachers Salary Bill

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Senate Education Committee meets Tuesday on the House-passed teacher salary bill, under pressure from teachers to approve it and from some senators to cut the cost.

"I hope to release a bill so that the Senate can get moving on it," committee chairman Preston B. Davis, R-Northumberland, said last weekend. He declined to elaborate.

It was learned from reliable sources that there was substantial sentiment among Senate Republicans to cut the $52 million House bill by nearly $24 million—bringing it close to the $27.9 million Gov. Shafer originally proposed.

"I don't think there are enough votes to pass a bill for the money called for by House," one informed lawmaker said.

He added, "The House bill obviously will cost a lot more money in the future than we can see coming in. A number of senators seem to feel that since the 1969 General Assembly ultimately would have to raise the money for teacher salaries, that body should determine the nature of the raises."

Joseph Standa, president of the Pennsylvania State Education Association, which represents some 80,000 teachers and professional administrators, already has warned his organization would take action if the House bill—or one similar to it—does not get Senate approval.

"If anything happens to weaken the bill, I will immediately call for a House of delegates meeting for their reaction and official position as well as for consideration of another course of action," Standa said Friday.

He gave the Senate until April 3 to pass a salary bill before calling the Delegates into session.

Standa's group spurred the legislative action on teacher salaries with a March 4 demonstration at Harrisburg.

The House bill would grant each teacher a $500 salary increase, plus regular $300 increase.

ments, in addition to setting the minimum statewide salary at $5,400 for the 1968-69 school year and $6,000 for 1969-70. The costs during the second and ensuing years would create the tax problem for the 1969 legislature.

Other action expected this week: — Senate Republican leaders said that chamber might act on Gov. Shafer's appointments to the created State Horse Racing Commission. Minority Leader Ernest P. Kline, D-Beaver, said that unless someone in his caucus objected, he would be in favor of confirmation of the two Republicans and one Democrat named.

— The House and Senate Appropriations Committees plan to continue their separate reviews of the governor's $2.1 billion budget with three days of hearings. — House Democrats have prepared a resolution calling for creation of a six-man committee to study the report of the President's Commission on Civil Disorders.

The Magic Touch of Spring

The planets move in their courses with wonderful precision. Thus, while it is impossible to render more than an educated guess on what may occur in the affairs of man on the morrow, it may be said with absolute certainty that a happy natural occurrence takes place with the arrival of spring. For during this period the rhythm of nature enters another cycle. Subtle changes take place. The sun rises earlier and feels warmer on your back. Sunset is appreciably later in the day. New freshness -- although sometimes mixed with snow -- comes on the land.

As spring mellows into early summer, the thoughts of most of us will turn toward the hills, the lakes and other vacation spots where the

ART BUCHWALD

The Mattresses Are Lumpy

Dear Francois:

I wish I could tell you things are going well here in Paris, Francois, but I would not be telling the truth. As you know, everyone in France keeps his gold in his mattress, and because of the recent surge in gold buying, the mattresses are so lumpy that no one has been able to get any sleep. People walk around with cricks in their backs and bruises on their arms and legs from turning over in bed. Tempers are short and a certain JOIE DE VIVRE has gone out of the French people.

Even my mistress, Yvonne, has been complaining. I bought so much gold last week I couldn't get it all in my mattress at home, so I asked Yvonne if she would mind if I stored some gold in her mattress. At first she said she wouldn't, but after a couple of nights she said either the gold had to go or she would. I hate to take Yvonne off the gold standard.

It's true, Francois, that all we talk about in France these days is gold. I want to the dentist the other day to have my teeth cleaned, and before I knew it, the dentist had filled every tooth in my mouth with gold. I complained, because he had told me on the previous visit that I had no cavities. But he just shrugged his shoulders and said, "I don't know what to do with the gold I've got, so I might as well fill teeth with it."

Everywhere you go it's the same story. Even in the restaurants they now sprinkle gold powder on your salad whether you ask for it or not. Several restaurants are now featuring cream of bullion soup, and instead of bacon, liver is now served with strips of gold in it.

In the grocery stores, for every bar of soap you buy, you get a free bar of gold. And if you drive into a gasoline station and you can name the president of France, they give you a free gold bumper for your car.

People are getting so fed up with having gold forced on them that they've been dumping it in junk-piles at night on empty lots all over the city, which, as you can imagine, has played havoc with Mme. de Gaulle's beautification program.

Employees must now accept their wages in gold, instead of checks, and many unions have protested that their members have wound up with hernias before they get home.

You remember, dear Francois, the barricades the students used to build at the Boulevard St. Michel with paving stones? Well, now they are using gold bricks instead, which are infinitely cheaper.

There is even talk of tearing down the Eiffel Tower and rebuilding it in gold. Of course, President de Gaulle is aware of what the gold surplus is doing to his country, and he has ordered a crash program with French scientists to see if they can find a way to turn gold into some useful metal such as aluminum or copper. The first person to come up with such a formula will make a fortune.

In spite of all the surplus, the French speculators and government are still buying gold, and not only has this caused great hardship to us economically, but it is also changing the moral values of the French people.

Just yesterday, I bought Yvonne a solid 18-karat gold necklace with earrings and a bracelet to match, and she threw them out the window and screamed at me, "Gold, gold, gold. That's all you ever give me. Did it ever occur to you I might like rhinestones instead?"

I envy you, Francois. You don't have such problems in the United States right now.

Your cher ami, Pierre

SYLVIA PORTER

If You Lived in East Africa

Nairobi, Kenya: How would you live if your company transferred you with a salary of, say, $400 a week and such typical fringe benefits as allowances for housing and a car to Nairobi, a sophisticated city of 350,000 but still a far 7,300 miles from New York's Kennedy Airport on the coast of East Africa?

A. Very graciously. Considerably more graciously than you could live on $400 a week in any comparably sized U. S. city.

There is an American colony here and it is growing steadily as an increasing number of U.S. companies send representatives to Nairobi to join the diplomatic corps living in Kenya's capital. I was a guest at several homes during my stay and I looked, listened, asked questions. It's quite a life. Specifically:

+ You would have household help to a degree beyond your wildest dreams where you now live, for this help is both plentiful and inexpensive.

A general domestic worker costs only $33 a month; a laundress, gardener, chauffeur get less; even a cook gets under $37 a week. These are live-in employees. It would cost you an additional $200 a year to support each worker in your home. As one hostess said to me: "I'm forever spoiled now. I hope I can adjust to what it is like elsewhere if we are transferred again." As a young mother added: "when we were in the States and wanted to go out, we had the costs of a baby sitter and I was always worried. Here, I am surrounded night and day by people I can trust with the children. Going out or away for the weekend is easy."

+ You would find the costs of food much cheaper than in the U.S. and the quality of food in the stores quite acceptable. No meat, including beef fillet, costs more than 98 cents a pound; most cost much less. Fresh vegetables and fruits are abundant and consequently inexpensive. Coffee and tea are superb (these are leading East African products) and also cheaper than at home. Of course, imports of canned or bottled foods from the U.S. are high (marmalade is a key expense of the diplomatic set) but you can get locally processed, tasty foods at reasonable prices.

Eating-out also would be inexpensive. Dinner at a top Nairobi hotel would cost you about $3.50 plus 10 per cent tip. Liquor and cigarettes, though, would easily cost as much as at home.

+ Such services as medical and hospital care would not strain your budget. A physician's typical charge for a house call is $5.00 and for an office visit, $3.50. A private hospital room would cost you $18.50 a day.

+ You would be able to enjoy various sports at nearby clubs for very reasonable fees. Because this was a British playground, there are excellent golf clubs right within city limits. Caddy charges are a puny 70 cents a round. Club dues are less than $100 a year. All sorts of excellent specialized clubs (bowling, tennis, etc.) are within walking distance of office or home.

+ Your big expense which would top costs at home would be for housing. Rents are very high, reflecting the prolonged shortage of housing in Kenya. A three-bedroom house suitable for a U.S. businessman would cost you as much as $400-$450 a month. Purchase prices are comparably high, and so are essential utilities and license fees -- although there may be some leveling off as the houses occupied by Asians who have emigrated from Kenya go on the market. Presumably, however, you would have a housing allowance from your company and assistance in bringing in a car as well.

Sending your children away to school also would be an expense offsetting many of the advantages.

But you would have an active, if narrow, social and cultural life, a gracious way of living that you couldn't find in the U.S. It would hardly be exile to the African bush!

Which Side Of the Crack

Sixteen degrees north of the equator is a city called Khartoum. It straddles the place where the Blue Nile meets the White Nile in the Sudan. A half million blacks, tall graceful people who walk sedately, trade cotton and coffee and hemp with Egypt and the world. The university island-scaped with avenues of royal palms. Under acacia trees, Moslems study newspapers and teach the Koran.

Except for the open oven winds which scour the sand, this is a place of peace. At noon, the shutters close and the ceiling fans stir an endless breeze across the skin of dozing children. The five daily calls to prayer come from the minarets taped, through loud speakers. This is a strict sect which abhors the use of alcohol and tobacco, and severely punishes adultery. The serene are isolated from a barbaric world.

Eighty years ago -- historically, this is yesterday -- these people became vile animals. They reached a level of barbarism unmatched in modern times. The Mahdi, who proclaimed himself the Moslem messiah, had died. The tribes warred, revolted against their khalfas, and the victors butchered the vanquished. There was no rain, no crops, no food.

The flies flew in dark clouds of their own, and men on donkeys whipped the animals hard to keep from being bitten to death. Starvation cracked the face of religion and culture. Between October of 1885 and April of 1886, Khartoum died.

Moslem shacks burned and no one had the strength to fight the fire. When the rich slaughtered an animal, hundreds of the poor stood near with bowls trying to catch the blood. Byron Farwell in his "Prisoners of the Mahdi" (Harper & Row) claims that some fought over bits of blood-stained sand. The facade of decency kept falling. The ruling class became harsher. The khalfas beheaded men in the public square for minor disobedience. The sun baked the land. The only thing that flourished was disease. Women boiled old bits of leather and fed it to children. Bones on the street were ground and baked as bread.

The dead on the quiet streets outnumbered the living. Mice lived inside bodies. Anyone with a scrap of food slept on it. A dying Sudanese, says Farwell, stole a bar of soap and jammed it into his mouth. The owner choked him, but the thief lapsed into unconsciousness without giving it up.

One night three naked and insane women sat beside a baby donkey, eating it while it fought for life. Women sold their daughters to the rich. Some still had the power to weep. "Save her!" they begged, as they pushed the daughters toward the rich. "Only do not let her perish."

The vultures ate the dead, and the living ate the vultures. Then the rains came. They soaked the sand until it looked black. In the streets, it polished the black skin of the dying. Seedlings opened and lifted small green tendrils toward the sun. The Blue Nile and the White swelled like hearts too emotional for speech.

Those who were left in Khartoum were patient. They tried hard to postpone death until a few crops were fit to eat. They squatted under trees, husbanding their energy and trying to trap insects. Every day they studied the youthful slender stalks of grain. And every day they promised that they would last for one more day.

The happy family was the one which still had one member strong enough to steal. At last the grain bent in waves on the hot wind. It wasn't ready, but the people could wait no longer. Madly, they screamed and tottered and crept toward God's communion with man.

Too late, they saw the cloud behind them. It was broad and black. The locusts were coming from Asmara. The people fell and threshed the ground and cursed their Maker. Then they ate the locusts which ate the grain. God had cursed the Sudanese.

When it was over, there were less than five thousand people in Khartoum. The rich had learned that the human system cannot digest gold. The poor learned that man, in chronic crisis, is a savage. In time, all of them died and the lessons died with them.

Khartoum is a great and industrious city. The chocolate-colored Nile carries the heavily-laden dhows northward. Well-nourished children walk barefooted to school. The spirit of God reposes in the cool darkness of the temples.

Which side will crack under the next test? . . .

Real Estate Lobby Scores Win

WASHINGTON -- It was done so neatly that the public scarcely knew it happened, but the real estate lobby has scored a tremendous victory in blocking the civil rights bill previously OK'd by the Senate after eight long weeks of debate. The real estate lobby probably means no civil rights bill passed this year, with race riots in the big cities almost certain this summer as a result.

Here is the inside story of what happened: When the Senate passed the civil rights bill containing the historic "open housing" provision, the real estate lobby was taken completely by surprise. The National Association of Real Estate Boards had never expected Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., to back open housing. So its sudden passage hit the lobby with no time to mobilize members back home to apply pressure in the House of Representatives in Washington.

Simultaneously, civil rights leaders knew their only real chance of getting a bill passed through both houses of Congress was to have the House of Representatives adopt the Senate bill intact and do so quickly. If the House and the Senate got into a conference debate over differing details of the bill, the whole question of civil rights and open housing would go back to the Senate for another deadening filibuster. This would kill the bill.

To secure speedy passage, civil rights leaders appealed to both Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and Richard Nixon, who agreed to help. Governor Rockefeller contacted Rep. Jerry Ford of Michigan, the GOP Leader, and Rep. David Martin of Nebraska, a conservative Republican, who was a classmate of Rockefeller's at Dartmouth. Nixon worked through Charlie McWhorter, his former staff member, and ex-Rep. Robert Ellsworth of Kansas, in approaching Rep. Ford.

Clarence Mitchell, head of the NAACP in Maryland, also talked to Rep. Melvin Laird of Wisconsin, the Republican power in the House; and appealed to John Williamson, lobbyist for the National Association of Real Estate Boards, pointing out the effect on the Negro big-city population if the House, after the difficult victory in the Senate, now sabotaged the open housing provision.

Williamson was sympathetic. He said: "This is the kind of a fight I don't like to be in."

However, other members of the real estate lobby were not sympathetic, especially Fred C. Tucker, chairman of the Realtors' Washington committee. He and others went all out to bombard the Republican leaders in the House. They also began a campaign to get thousands of letters from local Realtors in each Congressional district to their Congressmen in Washington.

The campaign worked. For when the House Rules Committee voted on whether to clear a resolution permitting the House to adopt the Senate bill, the vote was 8 to 7 for delay. The delay was to give the real estate lobby time to increase its flood of mail to Congressmen. Furthermore the delay was until April 9, just before the Easter recess, which meant the bill would come up for debate after Easter, when

Dr. Martin Luther King's Poor Peoples' March is scheduled to arrive in Washington. King's march is already striking a sour note with many Congressmen. And the real estate lobby predicts anti-Negro sentiment will deepen when King's cohorts arrive.

The tip-off as to whether Jerry Ford paid attention to Nixon and Rockefeller was the vote inside the Rules Committee. Every Congressman on the Republican side voted with the real estate lobby. They were H. Allen Smith, Calif., John B. Anderson, Ill., James H. Quillen, Tenn., Delbert L. Latta, Ohio, and finally David Martin of Nebraska, Governor Rockefeller's classmate. He had professed to be for the bill; nevertheless, voted for a sabotaging delay.

One Republican vote was especially significant, that of H. Allen Smith of Glendale, Calif., who not only is in the real estate business but has been flouting about trying to promote deals through his position in Congress. When Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., was trying to limit the power of tax-exempt foundations, Rep. Smith voted against him and for the foundations. Then, seeking reward, he wrote to Mrs. Thurmond Clarke, connected with the fabulously rich Irvine Foundation, asking her to help promote a real estate deal.

"For the past year or two," the Congressman said, "I have been trying to get started at Irvine, maybe build an office building, apartments or other facilities. . . and he went on to ask the help of the lady close to the Irvine Foundation in swinging a real estate project."

If Congress enforced its ethical conduct rules, Smith would be barred from voting on any issue dealing with real estate, including open housing. Yet he lined up with the solid Republican phalanx to help the real estate lobby delay consideration of the current bill.

Equally significant was the Democratic vote. Chairman Bill Colmer of Mississippi, a staunch Dixiecrat, surprised no one by voting no.

But the surprising vote was that of Rep. James J. Delaney of Long Island City. For three years Delaney blocked federal aid to public schools at the dictate of the late Cardinal Spellman, conservative archbishop of New York. But this week Delaney did not go along with the cardinal's liberal successor, Archbishop Terence Cooke, who urged New Yorkers in a pastoral letter to follow the lead of the President's Commission on Civil Disorders. Delaney voted against the advice of the new archbishop and in favor of sabotaging civil rights. Delaney's vote was vital. With the margin 8-7, had he voted the other way the real estate lobby would have been defeated.

Delaney was called in by Speaker McCormack and other Democratic leaders, and told how crucial his vote was. They failed to budge him. The power of the real estate interests in Long Island City where he lives was too great. Delaney reaffirmed his stand against the new, liberal archbishop of New York and against his own Democratic leaders in Congress.

Had GOP Leader Ford switched one Republican vote, however, the Rules Committee would have given the green light to immediate consideration of the Senate version of the civil rights bill without change. But he refused. He too chose to stand with the real estate lobby rather than with the top leaders of his party -- Rockefeller and Nixon.

Letters To The Editor

March 23, 1968

Dear Editor:

For over a year now there has been much publicity and discussion about a site for a new motel in or near Warren.

It seems to me the best site has been chiefly overlooked. The best site is on the present Warren Airport.

This site of 75 acres is owned by the town and can be sold, leased, or rented by the Borough Council. Using part of it for a motel would solve many problems. For example:

1. It would eliminate the water supply problem.
2. It would eliminate the sewage problem.
3. It would solve the fire protection problem.
4. It would cut the grading problem to zero.
5. There would be plenty of space for parking.

At the very same time, using part of this land would bring cash into the city coffers and would eliminate part of land that has been a "white elephant" for many years.

As there are 75 acres, using part of the land for a motel WOULD NOT harm the use of most of the land for playground uses or other recreational purposes as the Borough Council has stated it plans to do.

The projected new by-pass main road would virtually border the airport and would assure such a motel location of a good flow of tourists and high visibility.

Sincerely yours,
-s- Ernest C. Miller

Believe It Or Not

HARRISBURG -- Can an honestly elected state official be declared ineligible for office through no fault of his own? Believe it or not, he can! As a matter of fact, apparently every justice of the peace and alderman appointed or elected for his first term since November 7 is in danger of having his office declared vacant.

Of course, the Legislature can change things by passing a bill introduced by Representative James P. Ritter, a justice of the peace from Allentown, and William O. Shuman, Green-castle.

Messrs. Ritter, Shuman and Robert V. Cox, Chambersburg, the administrative assistant to Representative K. Leroy Irvis, Democratic House Whip, each working independently came to the conclusion that someone had goofed.

The whole story goes back to last spring when the people of this Commonwealth passed a constitutional amendment requiring justices of the peace and aldermen who were not lawyers to complete a course of training and education before they could take office.

Late last year, the Legislature passed a bill implementing the amendment. It called for courses of training for all justices of the peace, elected or appointed after November 7, 1967. That date, which was the date of the last general election, becomes important later.

The bill called for a three-month course of training, one month of which would be provided after election or appointment. Justices of the peace and aldermen would be limited to cases involving summary offenses until they had completed the course -- unless they were lawyers.

The course of training had to be approved by an "Administrative Board", which would be appointed by the Governor. The bill also provided:

"The Governor shall declare the office of any justice of the peace or alderman vacant if such certificate (that he had completed the course) is not filed in the proper prothonotary's office within such period of six months."

Governor Shafer signed the bill into law January 19.

The logical translation of the bill is that any justice or alderman who is not a lawyer and has not completed the course by six months after the November 7 election is ineligible to serve in office. The six-month anniversary of the election is May 7. But the course is supposed to last three months. Therefore it would have been necessary for it to have started on February 7 -- a date long since past!

And for all of this time, the justices of the peace and the aldermen have not been permitted to hear civil cases under the provisions of the bill.

Mr. Ritter was re-elected as a justice of the peace in Lehigh County on November 7, but since he is not newly elected, it is not believed that he will come under the provisions of the bill.

Like the stalwart Democrat he is, Representative Ritter blames the entire situation on His Excellency. In a speech on the floor of the House in which he announced his intention of seeking to change the bill so that the newly-elected aldermen and justices could serve, he declared somewhat testily:

"On November 7, 1967, the people of this Commonwealth went to the polls and many of them voted for justices of the peace or aldermen for their respective communities. Now, because the chief executive of this Commonwealth failed to do his duty, many of these honestly elected justices of the peace and aldermen may find themselves disqualified from holding office -- if this Legislature does not act quickly."

"Since January 19, Governor Shafer has seen fit to declare himself a favorite son candidate for the presidency. . . he has been to Washington several times, fighting for a place on the GOP Platform Committee. . . he has been to Denver, to Chico, California, to Syracuse, N. Y., and to Brooklyn. . . But he has not been able to find time to perform the function of appointing an Administrative Board to prescribe or approve the subject matter of training necessary to the very jobs of many justices of the peace and aldermen elected for the first time in November. . . The positions of these elected office holders, and possibly the offices themselves, are dependent on the Governor's action."

Interesting point -- what about N. Governor?

Cheyney College Will Be Closed Temporarily

CHEYNEY, Pa. (AP)—Cheyney State College, closed following a student disturbance, will not open for classes on Monday, the college's board of trustees said Sunday in a special bulletin.

The board's announcement said, "The college will remain closed temporarily until a full assessment can be made of the situation at the school resulting from the student demonstration there last Friday."

The demonstration was sparked by expulsion of a Philadelphia freshman for allegedly sleeping in the men's dormitory without authorization. It ended when the college administration agreed to reinstate him. Also involved were demands for more student control of campus life.

About 350 students demonstrated. Fewer than 100 remained on the rural Southeastern Pennsylvania campus after Dr. LeRoy Banks Allen, college president, ordered the school closed because of fears, he said, for safety of the students.

The state institution's 1,600 student body is predominately Negro. Some whites have enrolled in recent years.

The nine-member board of trustees is appointed by Gov. Raymond P. Shafer.

The trustees said Sunday they want "to determine as quickly as possible what damage or loss, if any, have occurred to college and state property, particularly to student records of importance."

Some students invaded the administration building and carried desks, file cabinets and chairs from Dr. Allen's office and other offices and classrooms during the Friday demonstration. They made a shambles of the campus post office, throwing about records.

The demonstration brought more than 100 state policemen to the college campus, but only about 20 remained on campus until Saturday.

Bobby's Calif. Campaign Shows Force of Strategy

(C) N.Y. Times News Service
LOS ANGELES — A mother screamed: "My child, he is being crushed!" Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, whose presence and words had attracted the showing, admiring mob, reached down and hoisted the frightened boy to his shoulders.

The Kennedy for President campaign that is moving noisily through California is not safe for small children. Several have been imperiled by the crowds that push from all sides at every stop.

But the New York Democrat's West Coast speaking tour, meticulously planned and coordinated by leading Democrats is showing the kind of force that the Kennedy strategists had hoped that it would. Many people remark that what they are watching is hauntingly similar to the campaign conducted eight years ago by John F. Kennedy.

There is Pierre Salinger, President Kennedy's press secretary, plodding along at the head of an entourage of reporters and cameramen. There are two of the senator's sisters, Mrs. Jean Smith and Mrs. Patricia Lawford, who campaigned for John Kennedy in 1960. And there is that New England voice which, at its highest ranges, sounds more like John Kennedy's ringing timbre than Robert Kennedy.

Kennedy is speaking more and more in the higher tones and there is a strong emotional content in his words.

At night, he says: "Here, while the moon shines, our brave young men are dying in the swamps of Vietnam." During the day he says: "Here while the sun shines, our brave young men are dying in the swamps of Southeast Asia."

"Which of them might have written a poem? Which of them might have cured cancer? Which of them might have played in a World Series or given us the gift of laughter from a stage or helped build a bridge or a university? Which of them would have taught a child to read? It is our responsibility to let these men live."

The Americans in Vietnam, he says, have been estranged from society under the leadership of President Johnson.

"We must bring them back into American life. That is why I am running for President and that is why I ask your help. We can put our beloved country together again. We can turn our cause around."

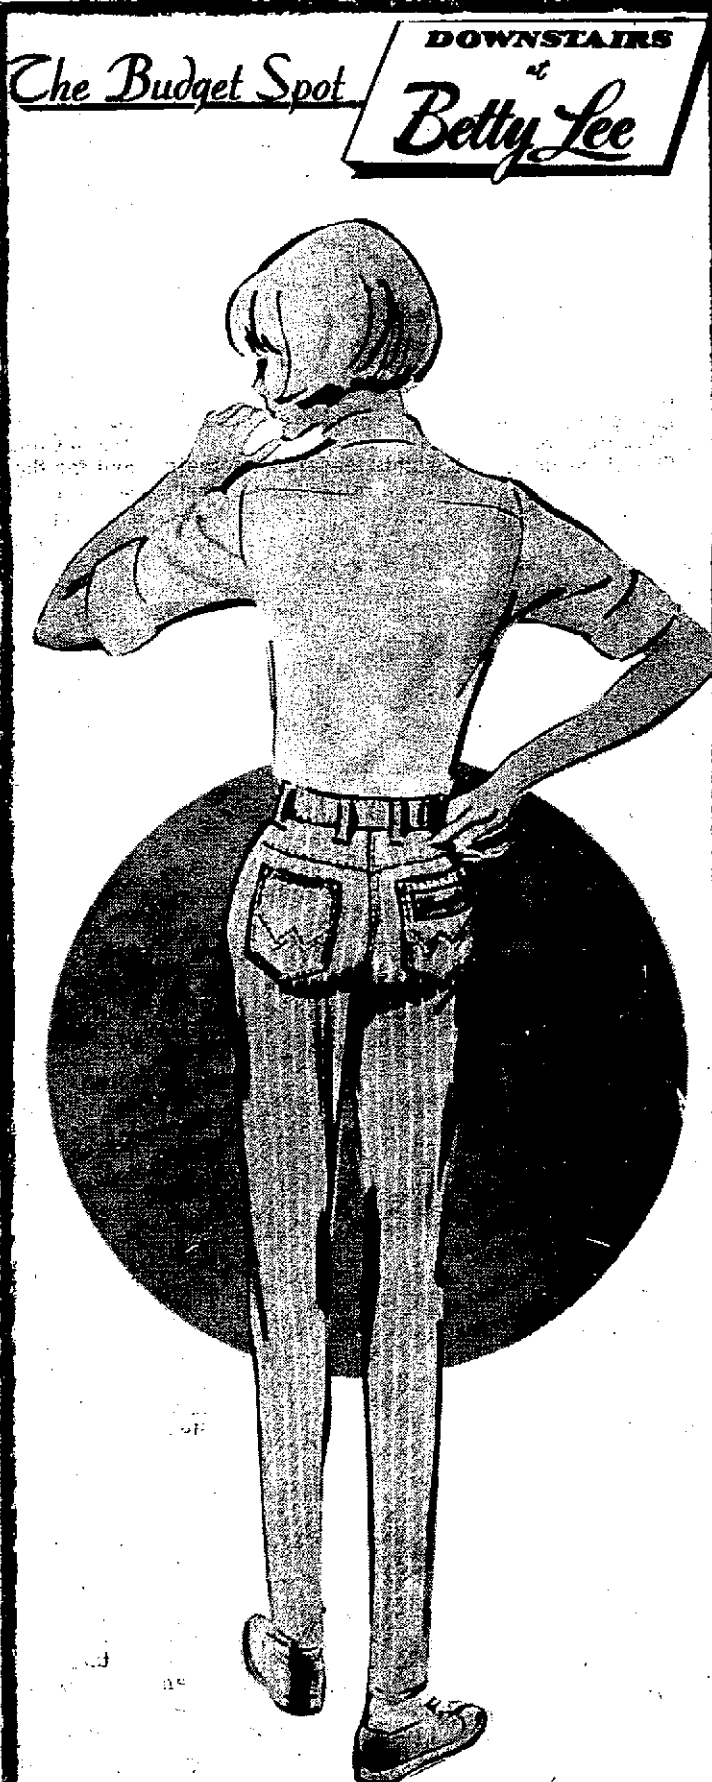

Kennedy arrived in California Saturday from New York and told an airport crowd of 500 in San Francisco that if he wins the California primary June 4 he can win at the convention at Chicago in August and go on to the White House in the November election.

McCarthy Supporters Campaign Door to Door

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Hundreds of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's student supporters — beardless and most with hair no longer than that on the head of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy — dropped in on Milwaukee during the weekend.

Some are staying until after Wisconsin's April 2 presidential primary — an election they hope to help the Minnesota Democrat capture from President Johnson.

But most headed back Sunday night to campuses at Champaign, Ill.; Chicago; Columbus, Ohio; Ann Arbor, Mich., and elsewhere after a weekend of carrying McCarthy's message to more than 100,000 Milwaukee homes.

"McCarthy represents a wise, sage, Socrates-kind-of cat," said Jim Feldman, 24, a law student at the University of Illinois. "He's a non-greaser. He refuses to succumb to the traditional techniques of fogging things up. And he isn't a hypocrite. He does his own thing."

Not all his young supporters could make that claim.

Most coeds left their mini-skirts in their dormitory closets and the young men donned ties, dress shirts and suitcoats. Some even put on a new set of manners — 100 per cent ingratiating.

"I'm so oily I hate myself," said one volunteer after a morning of wooing housewives with a door-to-door campaign of unwavering kindness.

Not that it was such a hardship. "Most of us all have two sides," one volunteer said. "We all have dress clothes. We just don't always wear them."

The Chicago-bred Feldman stood at a doorstep, in his right hand was a brown shopping bag brimming with campaign literature. On his face was an unsmiling smile. The housewife ignored it. "It costs something, I'm not buying," she said. "This will cost you exactly 30 seconds," said Feldman. "I'm a volunteer for Senator McCarthy. Have you heard about him?"

The canvass began Saturday morning.

Months Old Copper Strike Largely Ended

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tentative agreements for the last two of the four big copper companies caught in an eight-month strike were announced Sunday. But the record-breaking tie-up dragged on pending contract approval by some 25,000 workers.

Anaconda Co. and American Smelting & Refining Co. announced new settlements covering more than 15,000 strikers, but said local issues must still be worked out at some of 28 mines and factories in 14 states.

The 15,000 strikers, along with 10,000 others at Kennecott Copper Corp., still must vote on the tentative agreements and settlements have yet to be worked out covering another 10,000 Anaconda and Kennecott workers.

"I don't know when they're going back to work," a copper industry spokesman said of the latest agreements after three weeks of talks since President Johnson called the negotiations to the White House.

The White House declined comment on the tentative settlements.

The new agreements were in the range of the 54 cents an hour in wage hikes over 40 months won last week by 6,500 Phelps Dodge Corp. employees, the only workers of the four giant copper firms back on the job.

The strike of 26 unions originally involved 60,000 workers in 22 states. Several smaller firms settled earlier with some 10,000 workers.

The industry spokesman said negotiations would continue in the Executive Office Building next to the White House on the unresolved local issues and on wages for the Anaconda and Kennecott strikers with whom contract settlements have not yet been reached.

Wages before the strike averaged $3.28 per hour for copper miners, $3.16 for smelting and refining workers.

County Gets $324,632 From State for Roads

(TMO Harrisburg Bureau)
HARRISBURG — A total of $324,632.79 in local road monies has been cleared by the State Department of Highways for forwarding to 27 political subdivisions in Warren County — part of $44,580,000 slated for distribution to townships, boroughs and cities throughout the state as a whole. (This is an increase of $10,370,643 over last year.)

Payments to the Warren County municipalities are being made under terms of Act 655—commonly known as the "Home Rule Act"—calling for payments direct to communities (as opposed to liquid fuels tax payments later in the year made by the state to counties for distribution at the discretion of county commissioners to their political subdivisions).

In the present case the monies are also derived from liquid fuels taxes but apportionment of the funds is made directly to political subdivisions on a population - mileage formula—40 per cent population and 60 per cent mileage. The funds are to be used for construction and maintenance of streets, roads and bridges within the municipalities, according to Secretary of Highways Robert G. Bartlett.

This year for the second time the payments are being made in a single lump sum instead of being split into two payments, one in April the other in October, as previously. Payments now being forwarded to Warren County political subdivisions are as follows:

BOROUGH — Warren, $36,149.91; Bear Lake, $1,093.80; Clarendon, $1,946.77; Sugar Grove, $2,087.06; Tidioute, $2,082.73; Youngsville, $5,779.73.

Driver Convicted Of Second Slaying

MERCER, Pa. (AP) — A bakery truck driver already serving life imprisonment for one slaying has been convicted of another that occurred only three days earlier.

A jury of six men and six women convicted Donald L. Brown of New Castle for second-degree murder Saturday after deliberating 12 hours.

Brown, 25, was accused of shooting Wallace Coulson, 69, of Sandy Lake Jan. 4, 1967, and leaving his body in a ditch along a rural road.

Brown was convicted in Butler County of stabbing Ada Lumley, 16, of Grove City and throwing her body in an abandoned strip mine.

THE KIWANIS HAVE LEFT NO AREA UNEXPLORED when it comes to entertaining the whole family at their annual Sports and Outdoor Show on Saturday from 10 a.m. 'til 10 p.m. and Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m., March 30th and 31st, at Warren Area High School. The portions of the program which seem to be "specials" include the appearance of Paul LaCross, said to be the world's fastest gunslinger, knife and tomahawk thrower; a show of magic and legerdemain; and, for the ladies there will be fashions. The show is immense, interesting and takes time getting from one place to another, I discovered last year. So, for these particular events mentioned, here are the hours: Gunslinger, from 1 to 1:30, 4 to 4:30 and 7 to 7:30 on Saturday; 1:15 to 1:45 and 4:15 to 4:45 on Sunday afternoon. The magician will put in his appearance from 1:45 to 2:15, 5 to 5:30 and 8:30 to 9 p.m. Saturday; 2 to 2:30 and 8:30 to 4 Sunday. Fashions for the women of the family, by Morrison's, will be shown on Saturday from 2:30 to 3, and from 7:45 to 8:15; and on Sunday afternoon from 2:45 to 3:15. All three will take place in the high school gymnasium.

ON THE WOODEN PICKLE BARREL of yesteryear, H. J. Heinz Company, (famous for its "57 Varieties," though I would guess the number to be much, much higher than that today) wrote a bit of advertising that came to my desk, and as I picked it up to read, all my sensitive taste buds rose in unison, literally crying for a pickle. See if it affects you that way: "No grocery store was complete without its wooden pickle barrel, filled to the brim with plump, juicy dill pickles. The joy of plucking a pickle from the barrel and totting it home. And the final ecstasy of biting into the crunchy, tangy tidbit! The corner grocery store may be a thing of the past, but not so for the dill pickle. It's available in all shapes, sizes and flavors in the pickle section of your favorite supermarket."

ALL CANCER CRUSADE VOLUNTEERS who can be invited to drop in for coffee and donuts this Thursday morning, March 28th, anytime from 9 to 11:30 at the social room of the YMCA. Mrs. William Bunk, general chairman of the crusade in the borough of Warren, will be there to greet you, see that you are served, and to give you your volunteer's kit. Mrs. Bunk's co-chairmen are Mrs. John Robertson and Mrs. Thomas Barratt. The Cancer Crusade will take place on Monday, April 1st. Each volunteer will bring funds collected to her group captain, who in turn, will make the returns to Cancer Society headquarters, 404 Market street.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: These past four years have been like a nightmare. It's as if I have been waiting for a bomb to explode. I don't believe you can help me but it will ease my mind to know I asked for your help.

From the day our daughter was born I have felt nothing but contempt for her. Every day it gets worse. I treat her like dirt, but I just can't help it.

We have a son but I have no problem with him. He is a sweet youngster and well-behaved. I rarely have to raise my voice at the boy, but I am constantly shrieking at the girl. She is becoming aware of my hatred and is terrified of me. Frankly, I am terrified of me, too. Can you help me before something horrible happens? — COUNTDOWN MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: You are projecting your hatred for someone else onto this unfortunate child. Perhaps it has to do with your husband or your feelings toward your own mother.

You are a very sick woman. Ask your physician to recommend a psychiatrist at once. In fact, ask him to recommend two psychiatrists. A child who has been the object of her mother's intense hatred for four years in all probability needs help, too.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband's mother is a great looking gal, has a neat figure and is only 15 years older than I am. Eunice and I could easily pass for sisters. She has laughingly described her husband (number three and 18 years her senior) as "dead from the neck both ways."

Eunice has a good job in the office of a warehouse and is very popular with everyone. In fact, she is too popular. This is the problem. Her husband phoned us twice last week and again tonight looking for her. My husband said to me, "If Mom is using us as an alibi she should tip us off." I looked at him in amazement and said, "I wouldn't play that kind of a game, even for your mother."

We got into an argument about "loyalty" and he insists his mother is an unusually vital woman, that her husband is unquestionably impotent and there is nothing immoral about "protecting" her so she can have a decent life.

May we hear from you? — STILL FIGHTING

DEAR STILL: This is a decent life? Sorry, I don't buy it. If your husband wants to "protect" Eunice, that's up to him, but you are under no obligation to do so. The next time Eunice's husband calls, say, "Just a minute," then hand the phone to your husband.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Hank and I have been married 15 years. We have six lovely children. Hank used to wear his wedding ring all the time — until three months ago. When I found it in a bureau drawer I asked why he wasn't wearing it anymore. He said the foreman at the shop told him that rings sometimes cause accidents and he should not wear one.

When I suggested that he carry the ring in his pocket to remind him that he is married, he said, "You must be crazy." Do you think maybe he has a girl at work? — VERY WORRIED

DEAR VERY: A man with six kids doesn't need to carry his wedding ring in his pocket to remind him he is married. The grocery bills and shoe bills are reminders enough. Rings can be dangerous to a man who is working on a machine. Accept his word and stop nagging.

What awaits you on the other side of the marriage veil? How can you be sure your marriage will work? Read Ann Landers' booklet "Marriage — What To Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Karen Wagner Is Bride In Longview Texas Ceremony

Karen Wagner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald P. Wagner of 414 State street, North Warren, and Lanny Swanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Swanson of 1117 Camellia Lane, Longview, Texas, were married on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 in the Oakland Heights Baptist Church, Longview, Texas, in the presence of approximately one hundred guests. The Rev. Dr. Lavonn Brown read the double ring service.

Music was provided by Carl Bradley at the organ and Alma Ruth Willeford, soloist. Altar decorations included banks of polished foliage and along the chancel rail garlands of ivy.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk in a slim line empire design with scoop neck and elbow sleeves. Imported lace bordered the sleeves and was repeated in a wide band at the hem of the skirt and outlined the train. Her chapel train was attached at the back waistline with a self bow. She carried a colonial nosegay of white gladiolus, stephanotis and baby ivy with strands of simulated pearls.

The maid of honor, Miss Donna Kozain, cousin of the bride from Manor, Penna., wore a chiffon with turquoise and moss green satin at the neck and sleeves. A moss green bow with long streamers adorned her head. She carried white and yellow pompons and fern, tied with matching bows, in a woven nylon basket.

Costumed identically were the bridesmaids, Miss Barbara

Swanson of Longview, Texas, sister of the groom, and Miss Sherry Wagner, sister of the bride of Warren.

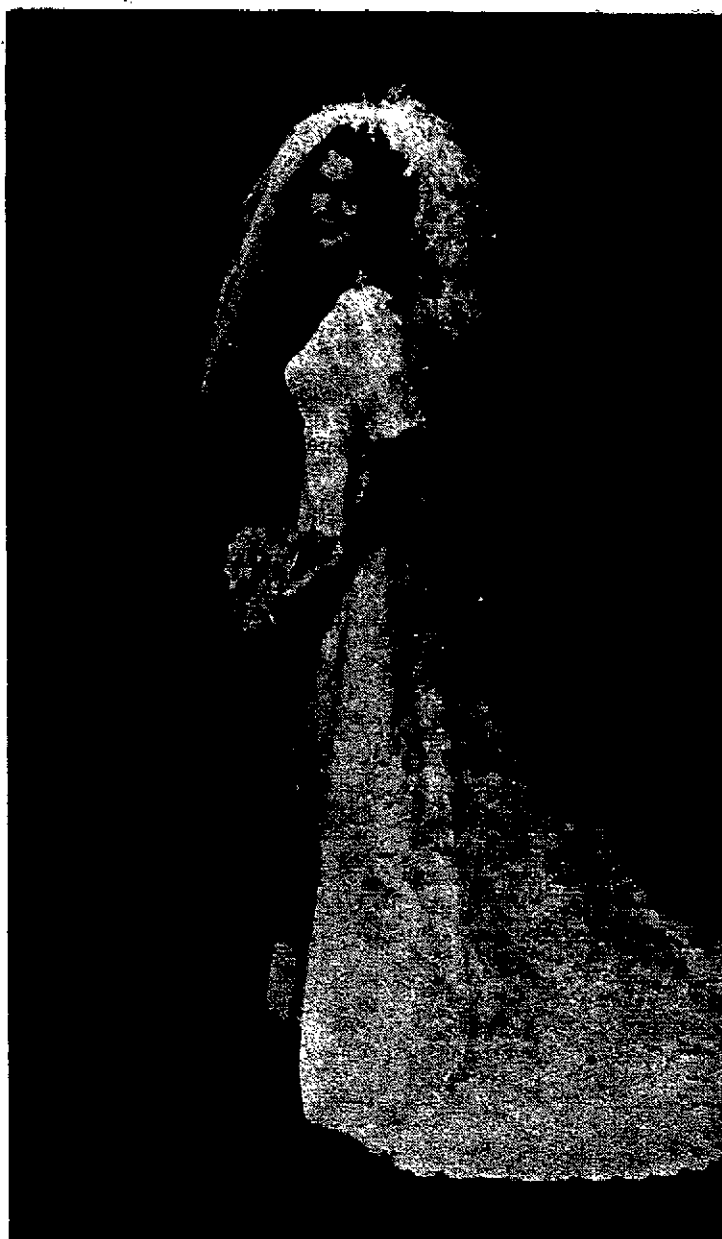

The best man was Tye Choate of Nacogdoches, Texas; groomsmen were Thomas S. Price, William B. Muse, both of Longview, and ushers were Roy R. Erwin of Nacogdoches, and Donald P. Wagner Jr., brother of the bride.

The mother of the bride chose a rose skimmer with matching accessories with a white gladiolus corsage. The mother of the groom was in a two-piece dress of yellow with matching accessories and a white gladiolus corsage. Grandmother Mrs. Bertram F. Cox also had a corsage of the same flowers.

A reception followed in the Oakland Heights Baptist Church's Fellowship Hall with one hundred guests attending. Garlands of fern and yellow ribbons adorned the bride's table, and baskets of yellow flowers. For a wedding trip to New Orleans, Louisiana, the new Mrs. Swanson wore a pink silk suit with matching accessories and a pink gladiolus corsage.

Mr. Swanson is a Senior at Stephen F. Austin State College and Mrs. Swanson, a former receptionist at Struthers-Wells Corp., is now employed as a secretary at the R.G. LeTourneau Corp., Longview, Texas.

Pre-nuptial parties were given by Mrs. W. B. Muse and Miss Barbara Swanson. The rehearsal dinner was hosted by Johnny Caces.

General Chairman Named For Easter

COOK FOREST — G. Donald McAfoose of Sigel, a United Natural Gas Company employee and an active civic leader in his community, has been chosen general chairman for the 18th annual Easter Sunrise service at Cook Forest State Park here Sunday, April 14.

Mr. McAfoose succeeds Frank D. Harriger of Leeper RD to the chairmanship, who has served for 17 years since the idea of a Sunrise Service was established back in 1951, which event has annually attracted thousands of worshippers from several states.

At a recent meeting when the new appointment was made, the committee said, "We hate to lose Frank Harriger after his many years of service and conscientious and hard work to make the service the big thing that it has gotten to be."

The Committee added, however: "It was Mr. Harriger's wish that the change be made due to his health and the fact that he is now severely handicapped with a great loss of vision."

The new general chairman has been a member of the committee for several years, has been quite active, is familiar with the territory and the people and the committee said: "We feel that we have chosen an outstanding leader. Mr. McAfoose is a non-commissioned officer in a U.S. Army Reserve unit located in Brookville, and is working in ministerial study."

For the service in 1967, he was responsible for bringing the outstanding 50-voice choir of the Brookville high school to the service and that will be a repeat for the service April 14.

The planning meeting was recently held in the home of J.C. Ward of Leeper RD, who since the beginning of the idea has also been an active committee member and each year has been responsible for the arrangement of the program and obtaining the service speaker. Cooperating with the committee this year, said chairman McAfoose, is Floyd Hetrick, superintendent of Cook Forest State Park, who will arrange all the "props" for the service at the famous Indian camping ground at the entrance of the park, generally identified by people of the area and those of a number of states as "The Circle".

Committee members at the arrangement meeting at the Ward home were Milton Boyd of Leeper, Edward Flick of Leeper RD, Francis Delo of Tionesta RD, John Southwick of Leeper RD, Vaughn Agnew of Leeper, Glenn Mealy of Tionesta RD, William Gilbert of Sigel, Norman Selgworth of Lickingville, L. D. Conrad of Leeper RD and Jack Baker of Clarion.

It was announced at the meeting that the park will be opened on Friday before Easter Sunday, for the hundreds of people that come from all over Pennsylvania as far away as Philadelphia and the many who come from Ohio with their travel homes and spend the three days there.

Last year there were in the vicinity of 200 travel mobile homes in the area, with an average of four persons to each home. Besides Pennsylvania and Ohio licensed homes and cars, there were several from California, Wisconsin and other western states as well as New York.

Following the meeting, Program Chairman Ward announced that Judge Glenn Mencer of Smethport, Judge of quarter sessions court of McKean County, had been chosen as the Easter Sunrise service speaker for 1968.

CIRCUMCISION

Q. Should all boy babies be circumcised?
A. Ask 100 doctors this question and you will probably get 50 enthusiastic "aye" and 50 violent "nay" replies. Probably no surgical topic is as controversial as wholesale infant circumcision. Some doctors perform the procedure routinely, others will do so if requested by the parents, while still others advance every argument against it before giving way to "such foolishness."

E.S.R. TESTS

Q. What is the E.S.R. test? For what purpose is it performed?
A. The E.S.R. (erythrocyte sedimentation rate) test measures the settling rate of red blood cells (erythrocytes) under standard laboratory conditions. The E.S.R. seems to reflect the response of the body to injury, such as occurs in certain diseases. The test is one of several laboratory procedures which the doctor may order to assist in making a diagnosis.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ
Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠A109642 ♥K3 ♦K3 ♠J103
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
Pass Pass 1♠ Pass

What is your response?
A.—While normally we would give partner a little leeway when he has opened in the third seat, in this instance it might be putting too much pressure on him to merely jump in spades, so we would gamble it out by leaping right to game.

Q. 2—Both sides vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠AK104 ♥1086542 ♦A5 ♠A
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1♥ Pass 2♠ Pass
2♥ Pass 3♠ Pass
3♠ Pass 4♠ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Five clubs. While partner has not shown outstanding strength, he is to be relied on for a seven card suit. Your weakness in hearts should not be a deterrent, for partner is marked with a singleton at most. With two of the suit he should have returned to hearts after the three spade bid.

Q. 3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠A953 ♥8 ♦K1094 ♠QJ73
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1♠ Pass 1♦ 1♠
3♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Three spades, a cue bid suggesting slam possibilities. Your hand is over 14 points in support of clubs and partner has opened and jumped. You will support clubs on the next round and the extent of your raise will depend on partner's next bid.

Q. 4—Neither side vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠A43 ♥AK62 ♦842 ♠853
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
Pass Pass 1♦ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—One heart. No thought should be given to a jump bid. The old fashioned play would undergo a quick change in blood pressure at the thought of having passed three honor tricks. In point of fact this hand is worth only 11 points and, if partner passes one heart, no game will be lost.

Q. 5—Neither side vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠A62 ♥A9754 ♦J3 ♠Q42
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
Pass Pass 1♥ Pass
3♥ Pass 3NT Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. You have a 5-3-2 distribution and values in no trump, and with values in all suits you should prefer to play for nine tricks.

Q. 6—East-West is vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠KQ98742 ♥852 ♦Q76
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
3♠ Pass 4♥ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. Partner presumably heard you bid three spades, announcing that your hand is worthless in anything else. If he had four hearts it is in the belief that he expects to make the contract in his own hand. Don't be a nursemaid.

Q. 7—Both sides vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠A652 ♥KJ987 ♦A6 ♠A10
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1♥ Pass 2♦ Pass
2NT Pass 4♥ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. It is true that we are normally reluctant to leave in a low level double when void of the adverse suit. In this case, however, we have more than enough defensive values to justify our opening bid, and it is very probable that partner is short in hearts when he chooses to double a nonvulnerable opponent.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

POX ACRES

Smallpox was so dreaded by early New Englanders that the victims were buried in pox acres far from the settlement. This part of American folklore is well documented, according to Dr. Fred B. Rogers writing in the New England Journal of Medicine. Several of these isolated burial plots are said to exist on Cape Cod, but most are lost in legend.

Jeremiah Digges, in Cape Cod Pilot (Modern Pilgrim Press and Viking Press, 1937), tells of the difficulty he had finding a gravesite. The fear of smallpox lingered all these years and was so great that pox acres were avoided as tho they still were capable of causing an epidemic.

Digges finally succeeded in getting an old-timer to tell him where the lots were located, but the old man refused to accompany him. The man explained: "... I jest don't never go there anyway. It's a notion I have." Knowing something about the ravages of early epidemics makes it easy to understand the old-timer's reluctance.

Before vaccination, smallpox caused indescribable grief and destruction. The disease was so prevalent that only the most severe epidemics were recorded. Rum and smallpox were the main causes for the decay of the Indians.

The natives were highly susceptible to disease and as the number of sturdy immigrants increased, the Indian population dwindled. According to Dr. Rogers, a devastating epidemic that raged from 1617 to 1619 took the lives of nine-tenths of the Indians along the Massachusetts coast.

It is easy to understand why William Bradford and Roger Williams wrote that smallpox was the Indians' worst enemy.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

BLEEDING AND WEEPING

A reader writes: I am a woman in my 50s and have had occasion to do a great deal of crying over the last year. Let's forget why I cried, but now, I can say that I should have known better. I have a ruptured vessel in my eye and wondered if the weeping did this.

REPLY

This is doubtful, especially if the ruptured vessel is in the retina.

GALLBLADDER REMOVAL SANS SURGERY

R. B. writes: One of my fellow workers claims she had her gallbladder removed without the usual surgical procedure. I have never heard of this. Am I behind the times?

REPLY

No, and I would have to see this done in order to believe it. A Philippine faith healer claims to be able to do this, but I am still not convinced.

ANEMIA DIFFERS FROM LEUKEMIA

A reader writes: Does anemia ever turn into leukemia?

REPLY

No, but leukemia may cause anemia. In leukemia, there is an excessive number of white blood cells. In anemia, there is a decrease in the number of red blood cells or in their iron content.

DUMBBELLS FOR BURSTITS

Mr. T. writes: Is the use of dumbbells helpful in burstitis?

REPLY

Not during the acutely painful stage; treatment via steroid injections is preferred. Later exercise is helpful in keeping the parts limber.

NEARLY PERFECT

G. S. writes: Milk is referred to as an almost perfect food. What does it lack in perfection?

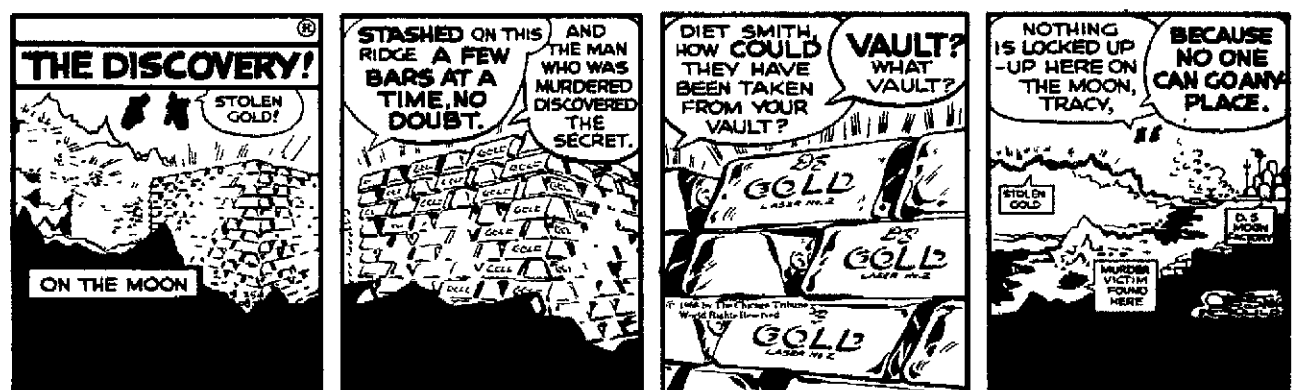

REPLY

Iron and, to a lesser extent, vitamins C and D.

Losing A Friend

Larry Steele is leaving the Times-Mirror and Observer and Warren County.

I could say that the outdoorsmen of the area are losing a friend. But this would be inadequate.

I could heap praise upon him for the willingness with which he has sacrificed space on his crowded sport pages to carry outdoor materials and releases from the Pennsylvania game and fish commissions. In this way I would come a bit closer to expressing the appreciation Warren County's thousands of hunters, fishermen and campers must feel for the service he has provided.

For I can vouch for the fact that Larry has quite often "spiked" a hot item from the sports wire to carry interesting outdoor items and announcements from local sportsmen's clubs.

Not too many sports editors are so cooperative.

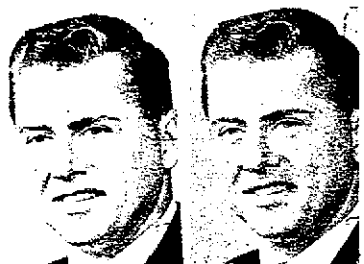

But Larry has asked me not to get too "flowery" in expressing my regrets. So I won't be.

I'll just say that so far as the outdoorsists of Warren County are concerned it may be a long time before another Larry Steele occupies the "sports" chair at the TMO.

Then I'll add—Good luck, Larry! Lock Haven is a good town. And it's getting a good sports editor.

Porsches Place One, Two at Sebring Enduro

SEBRING, Fla. (AP)—The Porsches won another major auto race Saturday and their drivers rubbed it in by saying they could have led all the way at a record speed.

At Daytona seven weeks ago, the Germans thumbed noses at the pack by pulling into the pits for five unnecessary driver changes, then sweeping across the finish line with the three leaders side-by-side.

Over the rough course of the converted airport at Sebring, two of the 2.2-liter Porsche prototypes outlasted the opposition and finished 1-2 in the 12-hour endurance race.

The leader, driven by Jo Siffert and Hans Herrmann, led the field for 198 of the 237 laps. The car went 1,232.4 miles, one lap short of last year, for an average speed of 102,512 miles an hour, about 6 off the record.

Husheke Von Hanstein, Porsche racing director, was asked if his team could have erased the record. "Easily," he replied. "But it's more intelligent to be sure your machine finishes."

BIRD RETURNING IN SPRING?

The sudden snow fall has at least made the skiers happy, except for this young enthusiast, who was having his problems at the moment. Bubba Kennedy takes off like a big bird after hitting a mogul while skiing at Cannon Mountain, Franconia, New Hampshire. The snowfall made driving hazardous on Saturday, but the appearance of the sun yesterday gave rise to hopes that spring may be on its way after all.

WHIP COUGARS, TAR HEELS IN NCAA TOURNEY

Wooden Predicts Record Third Title for Bruins

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rick Majors can beware of UCLA's basketball forces again next season.

After his club won the 1967 championship in record style, Coach John Wooden commented, "No school has ever won three National Collegiate Athletic Association titles in a row."

"However, we are going to have a fine team next year and I hope we will be back to defend our title."

"I wouldn't trade our chances next year with anyone," UCLA bowled over Houston 101-69 and North Carolina 78-55 on Friday and Saturday nights at the Los Angeles Sports Arena with 7-foot-1½ Lew Alcindor outstanding in both games.

Hell be back for the 1968-69 campaign and a shot at making All-American for the third season. Lynn Shackelford and Lucius Allen of the starting array also are juniors, although both Mike Warren and Mike Lynn finished their collegiate play with the victory over the Tar Heels.

The 23-point spread in that game was the highest in the history of the NCAA championship games.

Ken Heitz, who played most of the second half against North Carolina, will be back and Wooden has a host of others, including Curtis Rowe, a 6-6 freshman, who broke Alcindor's frosh scoring marks.

Here's what the tournament coaching rivals had to say about this season's Bruins:

Guy Lewis of Houston: "They completely and totally destroyed our game plan and I've never seen a team play as well as they did in the first half."

Dean Smith of North Carolina: "They are by far the greatest basketball team I've ever seen and they are coached by probably the greatest coach."

UCLA has now won four

NCAA titles in five years, an unmatched mark, and the tournament victory conclusively avenged their 71-69 loss to Houston in the Astrodome last Jan. 20, their only defeat in 60 games over two seasons.

Alcindor said the return match on Friday was more satisfying to him than that over North Carolina.

"We wanted to beat them badly," said Lew. "They said a lot of things we didn't like and we just wanted to teach them some manners."

May Carries Dayton In Final NIT Game

NEW YORK (AP) — To the victor goes the spoils, and Dayton's Don May gathered around him all he could get Sunday after leading the Flyers to the National Invitation Basketball Tournament championship.

The bruising 6-foot-4 forward, won almost everything available as he sparked Dayton past Kansas 61-48 in the nationally televised final Saturday.

His 17 points in the second half, which sent the Flyers winging after a 23-all halftime deadlock, gave him 22 for the game and 106 for four games, tops for the tourney.

He also grabbed the Most Valuable Player award and topped The Associated Press all-tournament team. And the 106 points also made him the highest scorer in Dayton's illustrious basketball history.

Joining him on the top five was Kansas' Jo Jo White, who missed his MVP chance when the Flyers held him to 10 points.

Clinch Berth

Soph Keller Wins Award; Oklahoma State Top Team

By LARRY G. STEELE
Sports Editor

UNIVERSITY PARK — Four defending champions were defeated, the East had only one winner, a sophomore received the Outstanding Wrestler award and Oklahoma State rallied to take the team title in the NCAA Wrestling Championships that ended here Saturday night.

Dale Anderson of Michigan State was the only one of five returning champions from 1967 to retain his title. He defeated Masaru Yatabe of Portland State in the 137-pound finals, 9-5. Yatabe had also finished second to Anderson last year.

Dwayne Keller, a sophomore from Oklahoma State, pulled the upset of the tourney by defeating heavily-favored Rick Sanders of Portland State, 4-2, for the 123-pound championship. Sanders had won the 115-pound title last season and was voted the Outstanding Wrestler award.

This year, Keller received the honor, believed to be the first time in the 38-year history of the National Championships that it was awarded to a sophomore.

Keller's upset triumph also proved to be the determining factor in Oklahoma State capturing the team trophy. The Cowboys were considered out of the running after Friday night's action, but placed seven grapplers in the top five in the consolation to edge second place Iowa State, 81 points to 78.

Oklahoma, who held second going into the finals and could have scored a maximum 87 points, faded badly and finished third with 74 points. Three of their four finalists were defeated.

Defending team champion Michigan State was fourth with 55 points and Navy took fifth place on 35 points.

Little Lock Haven State finished in a tie for sixth place and produced the East's only individual champion. Top-seeded Ken Melchior, a junior, easily won the 115-pound crown, whipping UCLA's Sergio Gonzales, 9-3.

In addition to Sanders, Dave McGuire of Oklahoma, defending champion at 130, also lost in the finals. Iowa State sophomore Dan Cable, who had posted a 141-0 record in high school, was eliminated in the quarterfinals.

Laurel Takes Crown In Overtime, 63-56

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Laurel Highlands, a two-year-old product of school district reorganization, today wears the cherished crown of Pennsylvania high school basketball supremacy.

The Fayette County jointure won the PIAA Class A state championship Saturday night with a come-from-behind 63-56 overtime victory over previously unbeaten Cheltenham at the Civic Arena.

Wilbert Robinson, the 6-2 senior, scored the first three points of the second half, putting Dayton ahead to stay, and Kansas gave up the zone.

May did almost all of Dayton's shooting after the intermission, hitting six of seven shots as the Flyers took an amazingly low 11 shots in the last half and hit on eight.

May took Dayton's only shot and made it in the last seven minutes as the Flyers hit 12 straight free throws to hold off the Jayhawks.

"We had the worst record entering the tournament 17-9 and we had to win our last game to get in," Coach Don Donohue said. "But this club is definitely as good as last year."

Don Henderson of the Air Force Academy and Oklahoma State's Fred Fozzard, defending 145 and 177-pound titlists respectively, had been knocked off in the first two days of competition. Fozzard came on strong in the consolation matches to finish third, but Henderson did not place.

Other champions were Dale Bahr, Iowa State (145); Wayne Wells, Oklahoma (152); Reg Wicks, Iowa State (160); Mike Gallego, Fresno State (167);

Locals Lose At Junior Olympic Mat

GREENSBURG — All three Warren representatives were defeated in the State Junior Olympic Wrestling Tournament held at Greensburg High School over the weekend.

Only Greg Williams registered a win in the two day event. He defeated E. Albright of Phillipsburg on Friday night by a 6-3 score, but then lost on Saturday.

M. Larkin of Washington, Pa., whipped the local grappler, 8-1.

Scott Albright, Warren's other entry in the 70-pound class of the elementary division, was ill and forfeited his match.

Dave Cataldo, competing at 105-pounds, dropped a 5-2 verdict to N. Walker of Meadville.

Bob Justice, Colorado (177); Nick Carollo, Adams State (191), and Dave Porter, Michigan (unlimited).

Bahr and Wells had been favored to win titles. Wicks scored a mild upset over Oklahoma's Cleo McGlory. Justice had handled defending champion Fozzard in the semifinals, Gallego and Carollo won the first NCAA University Division titles for their schools and Porter regained the crown he held in 1966, but lost last season.

In addition to Melchior, the East placed 13 wrestlers among the top six. Navy's John Kent (152) was the only runner-up. Pete Vanderlofske (137) of Navy and East Stroudsburg's Gary Cook (191) won consolation matches for third place. Six Eastern matmen finished fourth: Bill DeSario (123), Cortland State; Martin Willigan (137), Hofstra; Gobel Kline (152), Maryland; Matt Kline (160), Penn State; Rich Lorenzo (191), Penn State, and Rich Andree (unl.), of MIT.

Taking fifth places were Richard Minekime (177), Cornell, and Rich Schumacker (unl.) of East Stroudsburg. In sixth were Ron Russo (137), Bloomsburg State; Jim Blacksmith (152), Lock Haven State, and Mike Nardotti (160) Army.

Of local interest, Tim McCall, former Erie Strong Vincent State Champion now at the University of Indiana, finished third at 123-pounds. Rick Stuyvesant, of Moorhead State via Greenville High School, had placed sixth last season at 137, but did not enter this year's tourney.

Warren's Dick Thompson was defeated in his second match on Thursday and was eliminated from further competition.

An estimated 32,300 spectators attended the three-day event, a new NCAA tournament record. The record of nearly 31,000 was set at Kent State last year. An average of 5,380 spectators for each of six sessions at Penn State was also a new mark.

Killy Races To Giant Slalom Win

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP) — Jean-Claude Killy raced to victory in the men's giant slalom Sunday, sparking France to victory in the three-day international team skiing tournament.

A second-place finish by Martelle Gotschel in the women's giant slalom helped France to a total of 234 points. Austria finished second with 210 and the United States was third with 137. Canada had 116 and Switzerland finished last with 112.

A steady pileup of points in the downhill Friday and the slalom Saturday had pointed to a French victory.

But Killy's 1:31.38 romp down the 9-mile giant slalom course, with 52 gates and a 1,800-foot drop, gave the French the margin they needed.

American Rick Chaffee of Rutland, Vt., was second in 1:31.58. Georges Mauduit of France was third in 1:32.76.

Adding to Austria's pain, Karl Schranz had rallied down fourth in 1:33.10—only to be disqualified for missing a gate.

In the women's giant slalom, Nancy Greene of Canada took her third victory in three days in 1:40.49 and Miss Gotschel sealed the French conquest with 1:41.19 for second place.

Penguin Scores On Own Goal, Minnesota Ties

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburgh's Bill Speer knocked the puck into his own net Sunday and started Minnesota to a 4-4 tie that virtually clinched a Stanley Cup playoff spot for the North Stars.

The tie pushed third-place Minnesota three points ahead of the St. Louis in the West Division and kept them eight ahead of fifth-place Pittsburgh, which has four games left.

The Penguins were leading 1-0 in the first period when Minnesota's Parker MacDonald took a shot that was blocked by Pittsburgh goalie Hank Bassen.

As Bassen moved from the net toward the puck, Speer spun around and accidentally caromed it off Bassen's stick into the net.

Drysdale And Grant Blank Pirates, 4-0

NASSAU, THE BAHAMAS (AP) — Don Drysdale and Jim "Madcat" Grant combined to pitch a four-hitter Sunday to give the Los Angeles Dodgers a 4-0 victory over Pittsburgh.

Willie Davis collected three of the Dodgers' six hits, drove in a run and stole a base. Teammate Bob Bailey drove in two runs with a double.

Nats Score in Ninth, Nip Phils

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — The Washington Senators scored three runs with two out in the ninth inning to whip the Philadelphia Phillies 4-2 Sunday in exhibition baseball.

Bernie Allen's two-run double after two walks was the key hit in the rally. Then shortstop Don Money lost a pop fly in the sun.

letting the third run score. Going into the ninth, the Phils held a 2-1 lead built on a two-run fourth inning. Money and catcher Mike Ryan drove in the runs with singles. Rick Wise retired the first two men in the ninth inning but walked the next two to set up Allen's game-winning hit.

$1699

What's the catch? There isn't any. $1,699 is the suggested retail price at the port of entry for the VW sedan.

The price includes Federal excise tax and import duty.

It also includes the built-in heater, defroster, windshield washer, electric windshield wipers, outside rear view mirror, and seat belts front and back.

Not to mention the padded dash and front seat headrests.

It's the price of the real thing, not a stripped-down economy model.

What else do you have to pay?

The charge for transporting the car from the port of entry. The dealer delivery charge. And local sales tax.

There is one optional that makes a lot of sense. The matching leatherette upholstery. For $30.00 extra. (Nearly everybody gets it because it eliminates the need for slipcovers.)

Well, that's it.

Unless, of course, you count the cost of gas and oil it takes you to get here in your present car.

Late Inning Steal, Bunt Defended by Maury Wills

FT. MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Maury Wills talked about his pet peeves—the guys who cry “bunt” when he steals a base in the late innings or bunts for a hit with his team ahead by a lopsided score.

“They hate me plenty of times when we’re ahead, say 10-2 in the ninth, the other club has given up, can hardly wait for the game to end, and I steal or bunt for a hit,”

Wills sat in the stands before a recent exhibition game and spoke of the things that have made him a great ball player—the steal and the bunt. “There is no such thing as a stolen base which doesn’t mean anything,” he said.

Lasers Fail to Live Up To Hopes Against Cancer

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Lasers so far have failed to live up to early hopes that they would be a powerful weapon against cancer, says a research specialist.

"Whether human cancer will ever be treated successfully with these beams of concentrated light remains to be seen," said Dr. Robert C. Howe of the National Cancer Institute.

Area Men in Armed Service

RUSO

Army Chaplain Nicodemus A. Russo, a former Warren resident, has been promoted to Lieutenant Colonel.

In ceremonies held at the Headquarters, Ft. Greely, Alaska, Chaplain Russo, a Priest of the Peoria, Ill., Diocese, received his silver leaves of rank from the Post Commander, Col. Robert D. Coupe.

A graduate of Warren High School, Marquette University, Milwaukee, Wisc., and Christ the King Seminary, St. Bonaventure, N.Y., Chaplain Russo was ordained for the Diocese of Peoria in 1948.

Since entering the U.S. Army in 1955, he has served overseas in Japan, Germany and Vietnam. He is presently the Post Chaplain at Ft. Greely.

Chaplain Russo is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Russo of Warren.

The local Air Force recruiter, Master Sgt. Carl L. Swanson announced Friday three area men have enlisted in the USAF for a period of four years and are presently taking six weeks of basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex.

Robert A. Falconer Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Falconer, 1530 Yankee Bush rd., Warren, a graduate of Eisenhower High School, class of 1967, has enlisted for the mechanical field.

Russell L. Payne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Payne, 51 Main st., Frewsburg, N.Y., a graduate of Frewsburg Central High School, class of 1967, and formerly employed at Quality Market, Frewsburg, has enlisted for general field.

Douglas E. Bergstrom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Bergstrom, 500 South ave., Jamestown, N.Y., a graduate of Jamestown High School, Class of 1965, and a graduate of Jamestown Community College, in June 1967, with an associate in arts degree, has enlisted for the electronics field. Bergstrom is married to the former Norma Lee Dennis, daughter of Howard G. Dennis, 204 W. Sixth st., Jamestown, N.Y.

Army Pvt. Hal L. Wenzel, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene F. Wenzel, 123 Main st., North Warren, has completed an engineering assistant course which included training in the operation and maintenance of air compressors, engines, crane shovels and tractors, at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

Sheathed Buildings

Nickel stainless steel roofing and siding are used to protect industrial buildings that are exposed to severely corrosive atmospheres.

Bethesda, Md., in a report released Sunday.

The report, given at an American Cancer Society symposium for science writers, covers five years of research since first studies indicated laser light might be effective against cancer.

Lasers are instruments which intensify light so that it can bore holes in diamonds. They can be focused so delicately that they erase typewritten words without damaging the paper.

But techniques currently available show discouraging results against cancer, Dr. Howe said.

Beams powerful enough to make a cancer explode have failed to stop malignant growths, Dr. Howe said. Cancerous cells still remain in the area to form new cancers, he said, and bits of exploded cancer scraped off laboratory walls have formed new cancers when injected into animals.

"At this time progress is slow," Dr. Howe said. "The initial wave of optimistic enthusiasm has been replaced by facts from the experimental laboratory, some of which have been discouraging."

The investigator urged continuing research as lasers are improved, however, saying that development of instruments that can deliver less powerful bursts for longer periods of time might prove beneficial.

The ability of lasers to focus down to points as small as 1-20,000ths of an inch—sharp enough to destroy a tiny part of a single cell—means they can be important in learning what parts of a cell may be cancerous.

"At the present time the laser is not a tool to cure cancer," he said, "but to learn what causes cancer and what may control it."

Powell Scoffs At Suggestion Of Race War

NEW YORK (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell, the deposed Harlem congressman back from a long self-imposed exile in Bimini, scoffed Sunday at the idea of a race war in the United States this summer.

"No!" he roared when a newsman asked if he envisioned such a war.

Speaking at a news conference in his Harlem church, Powell said there won't be a war of blacks versus whites, but rather a civil war of young people, "led by blacks against the structure."

He said he will call for a world youth revolution when he speaks at England's Oxford University in May.

The 59-year-old preacher-politician was asked his solution for the Vietnam war.

"Get out," he said. "Why should we impose a democracy on a group of sweet people in Southeast Asia that we don't practice at home?"

He said he had returned home to purge Harlem of "Uncle Toms" and to restore funds he said Congress had cut off from his district.

As he spoke, several young men stood behind him with their arms folded. Powell said they were skilled in karate, and called them "the wave of the future for Harlem."

Asked why he needed bodyguards, Powell said: "I've got two threats already."

He said the list of "Uncle Toms" in Harlem was so long "it'll take me all day."

But, he added, pointing to the young men behind him, "the soul brothers here, they'll take care of them one way or the other."

Did this mean physical violence?

"I'm not talking about physical violence, of course not. We don't believe in physical violence, except..."

"Except what?" a reporter asked.

"Except, that's all!" Powell responded.

Asked whom he supports for the presidency, Powell answered, "Only A.C.P. so far"—meaning himself.
